Drunken Driver In Wilmington Fined $50

Salvatore Altomonte of Stoneham was fined $50 for driving a car in Wilmington while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by officer Fuller and was tried in Woburn court before Judge Henchle.

Homeless Man Found Wandering On Streets

Officer Frank Commons responded to a call on Andover street and found an old man walking around the streets. Taken to the station the wanderer stated that his name was John Swickly and that he was born in Russia sixty-five years ago.

He stated that he had no friends or relatives and no home. Officer Commons made arrangements with the State hospital in Tewksbury where he would receive medical care and food.

Moving Pictures Featured At Auxiliary Meeting

A meeting was held last evening of the members of the Auxiliary police force where moving pictures were shown stressing the defense work now being conducted by the New England Coke Co. in Everett. The meeting was in charge of Chief Harry J. Alsworth.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the following committee: Ralph Colbine, William McLaughlin, Harry Foster, Garnet Mills, Adam Ksolowsky and Harry Froton.

Windows were broken in the Ritchfield gasoline station this week and Deputy Chief Hogan is investigating.

High School and Buzzell School Children Helping In Wil. Scrap Drive

A meeting of all children in the High school and in the Daniel Buzzell school was called by Mr. J. Turner Hood Jr. Each pupil was assigned to certain districts in their neighborhood for the purpose of calling on all families and asking their assistance in getting all available scrap in front of their homes so the trucks working on the collection will be able to cover the town quicker.

Mr. Hood has been assigning several boys daily to assist the truck drivers in the collection of scrap.

Much interest is being shown by Wilmington and Tewksbury women in the formation of a local unit of the Massachusetts Defense corps. A group who have been working with the Lowell unit have decided to form a Wilmington and Tewksbury unit and a drive is on for new recruits.

The public is invited to join. Just get in touch with any of the members. Women between the ages of 18 and 50 are eligible to membership.

A demonstration was given Tuesday evening at the Grange hall, which included marching, two types of stretcher drilling, first aid and a gas mask drill. Maj. Violet B. Holmes, commanding officer of Region 4 of the Massachusetts Women's Defense corps and Lt. Conlon of the Mass State Guard inspected the drills.

The refreshment committee for the October 15th meeting of the Auxiliary police will consist of John Joy, Horace Huntley, Harris Heinen, Harry Goodearl, Clyde Martin and John Imbinbo.

GEORGE H. COREY, president of the Malden Trust Company, who has been named chairman of the Malden campaign of the Salvation Army.

—If you have junk and the trucks have not picked it up as yet put it on the front lawn and call Paul D. Emmens, a truck will pick it up.

Center School Children Buying Defense Stamps

Thirty-four dollars and thirty-five cents in defense stamps were sold on Tuesday at the Center school. The following amounts were collected from the various rooms: Miss Cryan's room $14.55, Miss Minahan's room $13.55, Miss Murray's room $9.45, Mr. Oredford's room $6.80. Stamps are available at this school daily and may be purchased by the children.

"Mail Xmas Parcels Now", Warns Porters

"Parcels and cards for Yuletide gifts to the boy 'somewhere over there' should be mailed today," urges Henry Porter, Wilmington postoffice superintendent. "Regardless where the bundles are going, there is no guarantee of delivery for Christmas if packages are not mailed by Nov. 1."

Everyone wishing to give a Merry Christmas to a serviceman should start now to mail packages according to postoffice department regulations. Gift parcels must be marked "Christmas Parcel" and should not exceed 11 pounds in weight nor 42 inches in length and width. The Post Office suggests a shoe box as the best example of the proper mailing size.

In addition to shopping and mailing early, parents and friends of men in the services are advised to abide by the following rules so that there will be disappointment for no one Christmas Day:

Packages should be wrapped substantially but tied to permit censorship inspection without damage. Postage must be prepaid full, and it is better to insure bundles for safety. Rates may be procured at the postoffice.

Be sure not to obliterate the address with "Don't Open Until Christmas" markings. These may be used provided they do not interfere with the address label.

Send money orders, not cash. Food (except hard candy) and clothing are unnecessary gifts as servicemen have plenty of both. Do not send inflammable items, matches, lighter fluids, etc. Liquors will not be delivered.

Sudden Death of Three Months Old Child Mon.

Wilmington people will be sorry to learn of the sudden death on Monday of Carol Jean Johnson three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, now of Medford, but formerly residents of this town.

PUBLIC HEARING

The board of selectmen of this town have received a notice from the public works commissioners in that on Oct. 30 there will be a public hearing in Cambridge to take action on the petition for the laying out of Lake street through Wilmington and South Tewksbury.

'Jungle Mudders' in Caribbean Outpost

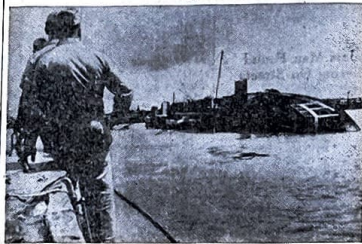

This picture shows one of the phases in the life of U. S. troops stationed in the deep jungles of the Caribbean area. Stopping "rest of character," these coast artillery "jungle mudders" now adopt the weapons and methods of the infantrymen, and are seen here charging through knee-deep mud. They take to mud and swampy terrain like ducks to water.

Synthetic Rubber

Lieut. Gen. William Knudsen, army chief of production (left), examines plans for expanding an Akron, Ohio, rubber plant for the manufacture of synthetic rubber, with an official of the plant.

German Strategy That Failed

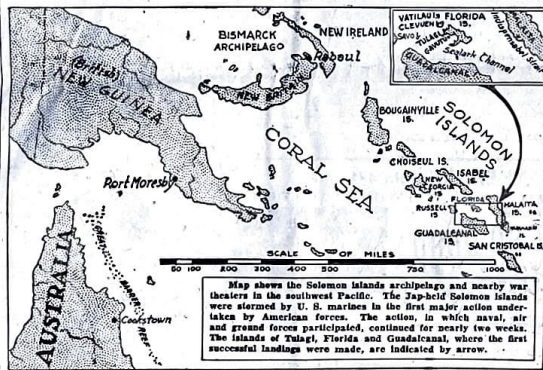

U. S. soldiers stationed at one of our bases in the Netherlands colony of Surinam, Dutch Guiana, pass the bulk of a German freighter that was scuttled off Paramaribo in 1940. The German ship was deliberately sunk here in an attempt to block the important port channel. However, this bit of German strategy failed.—Soundbite.

Plans 'Ranger' Raids Solomon Islands—Where Japs Were Driven Out

Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks, one of the American officers who have been serving as planners and advisers on the staff of Lord Mountbatten, head of British Command troops, U. S. special volunteer troops of the "Ranger" battalion operated with British and Canadian Commandos in the big raid on Iwojima, a French coastal port.

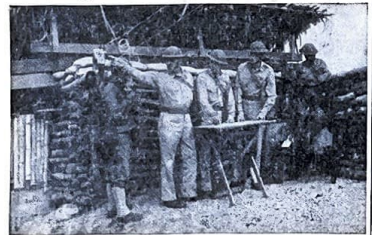

Map shows the Solomon Islands archipelago and nearby war theaters in the southwest Pacific. The Jap-held Solomon islands were stormed by U. S. marines in the first major action undertaken by American forces. The action, in which naval, air and ground forces participated, continued for nearly two weeks. The islands of Tulagi, Florida, and Guadalcanal, where the first successful landings were made, are indicated by arrow.

To Visit Russia

Wendell L. Willkie is expected to leave for the Near East and Russia soon to inspect certain services for the government. The trip, Willkie stated, would be made at the request of President Roosevelt, and he hoped to see Josef Stalin, premier of Russia, and the fighting front. The 1940 presidential campaign is expected to return to this country about October 15.

At Jungle Command Post in Trinidad

The important job of guarding Trinidad, B.W.I., easternmost South American gateway to the Panama canal, falls to Negro troops from southern United States. Excellent soldiers, they have mastered highly technical mechanics and are operating anti-aircraft equipment. They have great respect for their white officers. This picture was taken at a jungle command post.

Led U. S. Bomb Raid

Brig. Gen. Ira Eaker, who led the first all-American bombing raid over Europe, blasting railroad yards at Essen, in northern France. The sudden raid caught the Germans by surprise.

Indian Weapons—New and Old

Squatting behind a very modern and deadly machine gun is Shetlan-the-Chin Old Coyote, full blooded American Indian, while his brother, the brothers, culled the weapon of their brother, Shetlan-the-Chin. The brothers are now training as aerial gunners at Tyndall Field, Fla.

Children's First Names of Great Importance

Town Clerk William J. Cavanaugh brings to light through the columns of the Mirror the importance on all Wilmington parents to report the name of new-born children.

The law requires that Parents, within forty days after the birth of a child shall cause notice to be given to the clerk of the town where the child is born. However in reporting births parents, doctors and hospitals very often give only the last name as well as the parents name.

When a child becomes six years old and ready for school the birth certificate is desired, the town clerk has on record in many cases only the last name and whether the child is a male or female. First names are very important and should be reported at once as the child is named. There are several Wilmington births on record without a christian name.

Mr. Cavanaugh states that your co-operation to the end that all

Draft Boards Seeking Status of Men Now in 3-A

The classification of men whose military service was deferred for reason of having dependents began this week with the mailing of supplemental questionnaires to men in Class 3-A by Massachusetts local draft boards. The information available to the boards was a year old and the questionnaire is intended to establish the present status of single or married men, their dependents. Among the questions asked is whether a bona-fide family relationship exists.

Recover More Oil For East

Approval of the first unit of a pressure maintenance project designed to boost the ultimate recovery of crude petroleum from the Nation's most important oil field—the East Texas—by at least 200,000,000 barrels is announced by Petroleum Coordinator for War Harold L. Ickes.

At the request of the Coordinator.

The East Texas field, Coordinator Ickes said, "is one of the Nation's principal contributors of the petroleum as necessary to the successful waging of the war and is expected to supply a substantial part of the oil which is to be shipped to the oil-hungry Eastern States."

The project, which the War Emergency Pipeline now under construction between Texas and Illinois.

Former Wilmington Girl Bride At Pretty Fall Wedding

A wedding of great interest to Wilmington people was celebrated in St. Thomas Church on Saturday when Miss Mary Z. Gallant, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ann Gallant of 72 Summer st., Andover, became the wife of David Thomas Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ross of 18 Duane st., Brighton.

Rev. Fr. James M. Daly celebrated the mass and performed the ceremony. Mrs. Edward Shelby officiated at the organ and sang.

Acting as maid of honor for her sister was Miss Lucy Jane Gallant. In N. N. she wore a gown of rose tulle with blue accessories. Her bouquet consisted of American beauty roses.

George A. Ross, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The bride was attractively gowned ed in a beautiful wedding dress while brides with a fingered length. Her bouquet consisted of orchids and roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom in Brighton. Assisting the couple in receiving were the parents of both.

The bride made her home in Wilmington for many years until the family moved to Andover recently where a rest home she attended Wilmington High school and later hospital in Waterville, Me. Her husband is a graduate of Brighton High.

Following a wedding trip to New York the couple will be at home around the first of November at 133 Pannell street, Brighton.

Lowell Welding School Training Many For Govt. Work

One of the nation's growing welding schools in New England is the Institute for Industrial Training, Inc. located at 80 Bridge street, Lowell and in Lawrence.

This school was established three years ago by Mr. Benjamin Cotton, General manager and his son, all of whom instructed or hold executive positions, they are Harold H. Cotton, President, and Russell Cotton, General manager of the Lawrence branch, George Cotton and Rodrick Cotton.

There are in the Lowell plant ten different types of machines, all located on one floor. Students may learn a complete welding course in about 75 hours. If they are at present employed and wish to be welders they may study after work for two to eight hours daily to suit their convenience.

Over seven industries are in attendance with 40 machines to teach students on. The school is not only helping the government and shipyards by turning out welders, but they are doing defense welding as well.

Students of this school may be found in the following: Plymouth, Fall River, Quinlan, Sun Ship, Penn Yan, Lawrence, Todd Bath and South Portland, Maine. Students are also working in the Phillips, C. P. in Worcester, Electric Boat Co. in Groton and the General Electric Plant in Lynn.

Last year a class of girls was taught at the Lawrence School and two of the graduates have proven to be experts with an Acetylene torch, they are Nade Alphonse of 47 Lane street, Lowell and Marjorie Glonville of 151 Sixth avenue, Lowell.

Students who have recently graduated and are at present learning the trade are the following: Anthony Tonsigant, Broadway, Braintreeville.

Anthony Belinsky, Maple street, Braintreeville.

Alfred Milot, Beacon st., Graniteville.

George Rovachek, Beacon street, Graniteville.

Lonel Benoit, Bridge st., Graniteville.

Wool-Like Rayon Jersey Is The College Girls' Favorite

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

NEVER has the challenge to do the right thing in buying clothes for classroom and campus wear been so keenly felt as now when war conditions call for wise and careful judgment in acquiring a wardrobe with an eye to the future as well as the present.

While the new fashions are making simplicity and practicality their plea, and while they conform practically to every priority ruling, there are at the same time turning out to be about the most flattering, the most charming and much-to-be-admired and desired apparel that ever graced a fall style program.

Especially in the college and school girl realm, the incoming styles are so definitely and refreshingly new looking and "different," so fashionably colorful and so everything girls want their clothes to be, shopping this season resolves itself into a grand and glorious adventure rather than an arduous task.

The new wide corduroys and the handsomely colorful velvets are taking the young fashion element by storm but no more so than are the smart and delightfully wearable rayon jersey sweaters. They look wool-like because of the refined

Fads and Fancies

Here's a "teenage item that is going over big this season. It is the dickerie mode of bright plaid that you can buy with a matching hair bow.

New and ultra chic are handbags with the initials placed on an attached disk or tag made of matching leather rather than fastened to the body of the bag.

A new jewelry trick is a link bracelet, each link of which has been contributed by a different "beau," who sees to it that his name is properly engraved thereon.

The very attractive fashion of wearing a flower or a bow in the hair is becoming increasingly popular. The latest fad going the rounds is that of making a collection of "beau combs" as they are called. The idea is that the bow or the flower or the butterfly, attached to a tiny comb, and you place it in your tresses in a jiffy.

Milliners are making excited drooped turbans of rayon jersey, some with embroidery and others with long scarf ends intended to be draped about the throat.

Dyes, Not Colors, Have Been Limited

Wine and Gray Used as Basic Shades.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Over recent limitations on the use of dyes may have changed the color picture to some extent, but there are plenty of exciting new shades in contrast with dusty and medium tones. There are vivid reds and blues with variations of navy that do not duplicate the shade exclusive to the S. Navy. Wine and gray are introduced as basic shades to supplement limited browns. Gold and many shades of green are prominent, with green ranging from Kelly to the softest tones.

Reds ranging from American Beauty through fuchsia shades and wine tones tell a major part of the color story. There is an exciting new pink which is taking the spotlight, especially for accessories, and the latest sensation is "barbecue red," which partners well with the various new greens. Gray as a suit color is gaining wide acceptance.

Natural beige, especially in jersey dresses for casual daytime wear is developing into a hobby with college girls. It is ever so smart in velveteens and wide waist corduroys, too.

An important style characteristic for fall is the dramatic exploitation of color contrast. This is achieved with plaids, plaques, fronts, entire sleeves, inset borders done in a color that sharply contrasts the color of the body of the dress.

Patchwork effects are making a spectacular gesture in costume design. An entire blouse is sometimes made up of squares in various colors patched together just like quilt pieces.

Black charged with high-voltage color is rising to new heights of glory. Gloves in the new vivid pink or barbecue red or fuchsia or Kelly green, with hats and bags as highly colorful, give black looks that add "something new."

Corduroy Coat

Here is a coat that is "as smart as a cat" this fall. It is a glowing example of the smartness of corduroy for fall. You are helping the war effort when you are clad in a coat like this, and you'll be the envy of your fellow students at school if you make your appearance on the campus in a coat as outstanding as this.

The importance of natural beige tones cannot be overemphasized for fall. It is not only in jersey that they flourish, but the new velveteens and corduroys in beige are simply stunning for coats and suits as well as dresses.

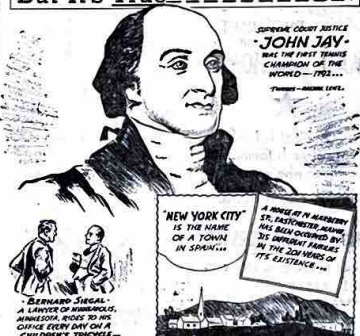

A smart two-piece daytime frock done in the prescribed L-45 member, shown to the right in the above picture, gives a jacket-out impression which is very fashionable. This two-piece dress is a veritable standard for campus, go-to-town or travel wear.

The dress at the left with the flash of raffia embroidery is charming for "date" duty, and it is in the very foreground of fashion, for there is a wealth of intriguing embroidery being lavished on dresses this fall. The unique thing about the embroidery that enhances this kelly green jersey frock is that it is done in multi-colored raffia instead of the usual peasant yarn work.

standing as this model. Yes, indeed, this coat of beige "ballou" velvet is a real find. The model is velvet. Ballard and told him she believed her pathway to peace lay in India. and other handicraft, at intervals of contemplation and of intensive study of ancient Indian religion, poetry and philosophy—all this with a rigid regime of diet and practice of physical posture and proper breathing.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

At the end of the year, she went to India, was received by Gandhi and admitted to the Ashram, his school for advanced novitiates of his philosophy.

Was Gratified at father, the Her Disinheritance; late Ad. She Had Urged It. It was a Slade, had vehemently opposed her spiritual adventure. She had won from England that he had said she would be disinherited. She wrote her parents, insisting that by no means should she be considered their will as "non-possession" was one of the first tenets of her religion.

A considerable fortune was donated in the two wills, but in neither one of them was she mentioned—her great gratification, she said later.

Her Indian name is Mira, that of an ancient saint Indian princess. The people call her Mirabai, meaning "Lady Mira."

Her wedding day is now from four o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock at night, including, as well as her various services for the mahatma, a long walk each day, preaching and teaching among the poor. In many forms and from many texts, she expounds her belief that "in serving the poor, one serves God and that is the only essential happiness."

Marching by the side of Gandhi in his many civil disobedience campaigns, she has been arrested several times and from many jails. Only casually and perhaps accidentally, did she meet her old friends of her dancing and dining days. Now she has definitely said, would she leave her quiet haven of peace for which she has sacrificed so much to attain.

THE Bureau of public relations of the U. S. navy doesn't specially need a poet laureate, but it has one. Capt. Leland P. Lovette, succeeding Adm. Arthur J. Heppner as director of the bureau, is a skilled specialist in literary criticism and poetry and with everybody. While in command of the U. S. Gunboat Pangama in the Canton (China) region in 1924, he was caught in a civil war between the forces of Chiang Kai-shek and the Kwangsi province invaders. He did a brilliant job of mediation, doing everything nicely.

Fire Department Handicapped, Lack of Men

At the meeting of the board of selectmen Monday night, the resignation of Chester Horton as captain of the fire department was tabled. Chief Edwin L. Day and Assistant Chief Winfred W. Rier were present at the meeting and they were instructed as to the duties to be performed by members of the regular and auxiliary departments. The board of selectmen, who are the board of fire engineers invited members of the town defense committee to the meeting of the regular firemen Tuesday at the firehouse. It is planned by the board to devise ways and means to bring both departments up to the standard of other cities and towns. The fire department at the present time is handicapped during the daytimes in having many of the men working out of town and others who have been called into the armed forces. A call was issued at the last meeting of the selectmen for men to volunteer and join the department who are in the town during the day time.
